Session II: Building an inclusive Digital Nation

Emcee : Kevin Henry, Head of Strategic Engagement, APAC

As Indonesia advances its digital transformation, inclusiveness will be key to realizing the true economic and social value of mobile technology nationwide. As connectivity standards transcend the immediate horizon for nationwide demand, a vision and strategy to support Indonesia's rise to a world leading economy is necessary.

The unique geographic landscape of Indonesia's archipelago necessitates a strategic and pragmatic approach to connectivity—one that shifts the focus from simplistic legacy measures of deployment to outcomes that truly matter – and inclusion requires careful attention to avoid new dimensions of exclusion to arise. This session will explore the key priorities for building a sustainable solution to effectively connect Indonesia's future digital nation.
